PREFACE

The Publishers trust that this—the Twenty-Third—Edition of Kelly's Directory of WORCESTERSHIRE may be found at least equal in accuracy to previous ones.

Every Parish in the County is included in the book, which, though primarily a Directory, is also in some measure a gazetteer, giving as it does a topographical account of every Town, Parish, Village and Township, and descriptions of the principal buildings and objects of interest.

Full information is given as to the County Council; the Hundreds and County Court Districts; the Cathedral; the Churches, with the value of the Livings and the names of the Patrons and Incumbents; the Chief Landowners, with details as to the Principal Seats; the Hospitals; the Acreage, Soils and Crops; the Markets and Fairs; the means of Conveyance by Railway, Road, etc.

The Map* of the County has been specially revised for this Edition, and is coloured so as to show the Parliamentary Divisions, and the first and second class roads are also clearly marked.

An article on the Geology of the County, with a sketch map showing the various strata, is included in the book.

The Publishers have again to return their thanks to those Clergymen, Magistrates' Clerks, Registrars, and other persons who have assisted their Agents in connection with the revision of the information for the present Edition.

KIDDERMINSTER

KIDDERMINSTER, near the north-west border of the county, on the river Stour and the Staffordshire and Worcestershire canal, is a market town and gives its name to a rural district; it is head of a petty sessional division and county court district and a municipal borough, with a station on the West Midland section of the Great Western railway, 18 miles south-west from Birmingham, 82 from Bristol, 15 north from Worcester, 3 north-east from Bewdley, 7 south-west from Stourbridge, 63 south-west from Derby, 50 from Stafford, 106 from Manchester, 44 from Gloucester, 37 from Cheltenham, 16 south from Wolverhampton, 4 north from Stourport and 125 north-west from London, in the Kidderminster division of the county, Lower Halfshire hundred, rural deanery of Kidderminster, archdeaconry of Dudley and diocese of Worcester. The Great Western line to Bewdley was opened in June, 1878. The parish, bounded on the west by the navigable river Severn, the western division containing about 24 and the eastern 6 square miles, is divided into two unequal parts by the river Stour. The town has been much improved and was thoroughly drained in 1872-3; is well supplied with water from works on the Stourport road, erected in 1872 and belonging to the Corporation, and lighted with gas from works in Pitts lane, being first thus lighted in 1819. Kidderminster anciently claimed various privileges as a borough, including the right of representation in Parliament, but this right, owing to the expense of supporting the members in London during the sitting of Parliament, was not exercised, and lapsed until partially revived by the Reform Act of 1832, which again made the town a borough, sending one representative to Parliament. Under the Representation of the People Act, 1918, the borough was included in the division of the county to which it gives its name. A charter conferring various privileges was granted by King Charles I. in 1637, and the borough is now, since May 17, 1888, divided into six wards governed by a Corporation, elected under the Municipal Act of 1835, and consisting of six aldermen and eighteen councillors, who choose a mayor. The borough has a commission of the peace.

Kidderminster is celebrated for its manufacture of carpets, a branch of industry established here in 1735; at first the Scotch or flat carpets without a pile were made; but in the year 1749 the cut carpets were introduced: Brussels tapestry and royal Axminster carpeting form the larger portion of the present manufacture, much of the former being woven by steam power, but hand-loom weaving is still carried on to a limited extent. Worsted spinning and dyeing are also largely practised; at Stour Vale are the extensive works of Messrs. Baldwin's Limited, tin and terne plate and sheet iron makers. The cloth manufacture is known to have existed here as early as 1356.

The parish church of St. Mary and All Saints is a spacious building of stone, in the Early English, Decorated and Perpendicular styles, consisting of chancel with aisle and vestry, clerestoried nave, aisles and an embattled western tower, with pinnacles, containing an electric clock and 12 bells and 3 for chimes, 4 of the bells and the clock being installed in 1935; the west window, as well as the windows of the chancel, are stained: in 1872 the galleries were removed, an organ chamber built, and an organ erected, and a carved stone pulpit and massive font introduced, in 1877, the church was re-seated and repaired, and in 1880 a reredos of alabaster was erected: on the north side of the choir is an altar-tomb, with the effigy of a knight in armour, his head resting on his helmet, a ruff about his neck, and by his side a gauntlet, and a lion at his feet; on his left hand is an effigy of his wife, in the habit of a widow, with a book in her hands, and standing against the back of the arch are figures of five children and scrolls with initials; the tomb commemorates Thomas Blount esq. ob. 1569, and Margaret his wife, ob. 1595: at the south side of the choir, inclosing at the back a large shield of arms, is a full-sized semi-recumbent effigy in half armour of Sir Edward Blount, kt. 1630, and on an altar-tomb of alabaster, immediately in front, effigies of his two wives. Lady Margaret Neville and Margaret (Wigmore): on the north side, in a lofty arched recess is a panelled altar-tomb with recumbent effigies Walter de Cooksey esq. 1410, and Maud (St. Pierre), his wife: the moulding of the arch is enriched with ten figures standing on pedestals, and above is a panelled parapet, with arms and supporters: a panelled tomb of Perpendicular date, in the south aisle, with the effigy of a female, has been assigned to a Lady Beauchamp: there are brasses under a triple canopy with shields of arms, to Sir John Philp and Walter Cooksey esq. and to Matilda, successively wife of each 1415; both effigies have collars of SS.: a memorial cloister was erected in 1888 at the south-east angle of the chancel to the 1st Earl of Dudley, d. 7 May, 1885, at a cost of £500: restorations were carried out in 1895 in the church at a cost of £7,000 by John Brinton esq. formerly M.P. for the borough, which consisted of a complete refacing of the stone work of the north and south clerestories, the west end of the nave, and the whole of the tower, also reinstating the stone groining under the tower: in removing the blank window over the tower entrance the remains of the original window were discovered with deeply moulded tracery: all the clerestory windows are filled with stained glass in memory of Dr. Claughton, Bishop of St Albans, 1887-90, and vicar here 1841-67: other memorial windows were placed in 1892 to William Charles Awdry, d. 23 Nov. 1891: in 1918 three stained glass windows were added on the north side in memory Bishop Claughton and his son Canon Claughton, of Kidderminster, 1880-87: in 1921 the window over the tower entrance, which was discovered during the restoration of the church, was filled with stained glass in memory of the Rev. Sidney Phillips, vicar of Kidderminster 1887-1909, and a war memorial, designed by Sir Giles Gilbert Scott R.A. was added to the north wall: in 1922 a lady chapel, known as the Whittall chapel, was added on the north side of the chancel, at a total cost of £12,000, by the late Matthew John Whittall esq. of Worcester, Mass., U.S.A. from designs by Sir Giles Gilbert Scott R.A.: three stained windows and oak panelling in the sanctuary were added by Mrs. Matthew John Whittall in memory of her husband, and an organ was erected to his memory by his son and daughter. The register dates from the year 1539, and there are 900 sittings. The living is a vicarage, net yearly value £1,503, with residence, in the gift of the Bishop of Worcester, and held since 1909 by the Rev. Lawrence Banks Sladen M.A. of Pembroke College, Oxford, surrogate, chaplain to the Institution, rural dean of Kidderminster, hon. canon of Worcester and proctor in convocation. Richard Baxter, the distinguished Nonconformist preacher, was minister of this parish 1640-1661; his pulpit is now in the Unitarian chapel, but his chair remains in the church, and there is a portrait in the vestry, painted in 1691. St. George's and St. John's are ecclesiastical parishes, formed August 23, 1867, out of St. Mary's.

The church of St. George, in Coventry street, originally erected at a cost of over £20,000, and consecrated in 1824, was destroyed by fire in 1922; it was reopened in 1925. The register dates from the year 1824. The living is a vicarage, net yearly value £505, with residence, in the gift of the vicar of Kidderminster, and held since 1932 by the Rev. Benjamin John Isaac M.A. of Wadham College, Oxford. The Mission church of St. Andrew, in this parish, erected in 1890 by the Rev. Clement Ernest Newcomb M.A. is an iron building, consisting of chancel, nave, transepts and organ chamber: an organ was built in 1892: there are 450 sittings.

The church of St. John the Baptist, erected in 1843 at a cost of £4,000, and considerably enlarged and altered during the period 1890-94 from the designs of Mr. J. A. Chatwin F.R.I.B.A. at a cost of £15,000, is an edifice of blue brick with Bath stone dressings, now chiefly in the Early English style, consisting of apsidal chancel, with vestries on the north, nave, aisles, and on the south side the apsidal chancel, nave and south aisle with transept of the previous church, now forming an annexe, with south porch and a western tower with pinnacles and a lofty broach spire, containing a clock and 2 bells: the altar table of carved oak was presented as a memorial to Mrs. E. J. Morton: there are two stained glass windows at the east end of the church and a stone memorial in the churchyard to the memory of those who fell in the Great War, 1914-18, and a number of other stained windows are memorials; a carved oak screen forming a side chapel on the south side of the church was erected in 1931; a carved oak organ case was added in 1932 to commemorate 50 years' service as organist by Mr. W. E. Wadley F.R.C.O. (1877-1927): there are sittings for 1,100 persons, 700 being free. The register dates from the year 1843. The living is a vicarage, net yearly value £426, with residence, in the gift of the vicar of Kidderminster, and held since 1936 by the Rev.

In 1885 a portion of this ecclesiastical parish was annexed to Lower Mitton. The Mission church of the Holy Innocents, at Foley Park, in this parish, erected in 1889 at a cost of £400 and since enlarged, is an iron building person consisting of nave and north aisle, and will seat 250 persons.

St. Barnabas church, FRANCHE, consecrated in 1871 as a chapel or ease to All Saints, is an edifice of brick with stone facings, in the Gothic style, erected in memory of the Rev. H. J. Fortescue M.A. hon. canon of Worcester, at a cost of £3,000, borne by his daughters, and occupies a site given by J. Chellingworth esq.; it consists of chancel, nave, vestry, south porch and a bell-tower added in 1935: there are 170 sittings.

The Mission church of St. James, erected in 1872, at a cost of about £2,000, wholly given by the Rev. H. J. Fortescue M.A. in connection with the church of St. Mary and All Saints, and situated near the Horse Fair is a plain edifice of red brick, consisting of chancel, nave, vestry, class-room, western porch and a bell turret on the north side containing one bell: there are 250 sittings, all being free. The Rev. Kenneth D. Greenaway M.A. has been curate in charge since 1935.

The chapel of the Holy Trinity, Trimpey (a chapel of ease to All Saints), erected in 1844, at a cost of £800, is a building in the Norman style, consisting of chancel, nave and vestry: it will seat 120 persons. The Rev. Geoffrey Morris Oakeshott has been curate in charge since 1935.

The Roman Catholic church of St. Ambrose, in Birmingham road, is a structure of brick in the Early English and Decorated styles, with chancel, nave, aisles and lady chapel: it was built in 1856 to replace a school chapel erected in 1835: a spire and peal of bells were added in 1901: there are ten memorial windows, a good organ, and mosaic panels in the pulpit: the church has 400 sittings.

Baxter church (Congregational), adjoining the Town bridge in the Bull Ring, dates back to 1660, the year in which Richard Baxter's unique ministry in Kidderminster ended: it stands on a site originally purchased with a view to carrying on the work Baxter had begun: the present is the fourth building, for the first was supplanted in 1753, the second in 1825 (the old meeting house), and the third in 1885: the existing church is of red Alveley stone, in the Early Decorated style: at the south-west angle is a tower and spire with pinnacles, 140 feet in height: various memorial windows, a large stone pulpit, and a table (used for the communion office), which belonged to Richard Baxter, are of interest: there are about 1,000 sittings.

The Baptist chapel, built in 1808, will seat 600 persons: the Baptist chapel (Milton hall), Lorne street, erected in 1890 at a cost of £2,200, will seat 250 persons: the Methodist chapel in Mill street, built in 1803, seats 600; that in Birmingham road, erected in 1905, seats 500; another built in 1902, has 500 sittings. The Christadelphian Hall of Testimony is in George street and holds about 150 persons.

The Unitarian chapel, in Church street, originally built in 1872, was reopened in 1883, after alteration and enlargement, and will now seat 700 persons: the front elevation is of a local reddish-brown stone, with Bath stone dressings, in the Perpendicular style: the pulpit formerly used by Richard Baxter, a fine specimen of oak carving and dating 1621, is preserved in the vestry.

The Swedenborgian chapel, in Comberton hill, was erected in 1908.

A Congregational hall is in Orchard street.

The Cemetery, adjoining the old cemetery of about three acres, covers an area of sixteen acres, and was opened June 1st, 1878: it contains two mortuary chapels, one erected in 1840 and the other in 1878: there are houses for the superintendent and one man. The Burial Committee, consisting of nine members, takes the place of the Board, formed in 1875.

Kidderminster and District School of Science and Art, erected on a site given by D. W. Goodwin esq. J.P. at the angle of Exchange street and Market street, and opened October 1st, 1879, is an edifice of Stourbridge fire brick and Grinshill and red Alveley stone in the Early Renaissance style, and contains a large elementary art room, and a life room; antique metal work, modelling and embroidery rooms, painters' and decorators' shop, cabinet-making and carpentry room with benches for 18 students, head master's room, caretakers rooms &c. The Science department includes two chemical laboratories, a physical laboratory, an electrical engineering laboratory and class room, a lecture room for 140 students, a smaller lecture room and several class rooms. There are altogether about 600 students in the schools.

The Town Hall, which adjoins the Com Exchange, was erected by a company and transferred to the Corporation in 1874; it is situated in Vicar Street, and stands on the garden belonging to the old vicarage house. The foundation stone was laid on the 7th December, 1853, by the 1st Earl of Dudley, and the Corn Exchange was opened on the 4th of January, 1855. The building comprises a spacious concert hall, with an orchestra, capable of holding 100 performers, and has an organ; the body of the hall, with the gallery, will seat about 800 persons.

The meetings of the Chamber of Commerce are held at Municipal Buildings.

The Municipal Buildings, erected in 1876, at a cost of more than £8,000, on a site adjoining the Town Hall, in Vicar street, is a building of Hollington stone and brick in the Renaissance style: it has a frontage of 69 feet to Vicar street and contains on the ground floor a large entrance lobby, main staircase and public staircase for witnesses, and the usual municipal offices and the rooms occupied by the borough police; on the first floor are the council chamber and police court, fitted with handsome oak and pine furniture, and attached to these are committee and consulting rooms; on the same floor are the town clerk's offices and the mayor's parlour. The police cells are in the rear of the building.

The Corporation plate includes a loving cup of solid silver, presented 27 July, 1894, by the Earl of Dudley P.C., G.C.B., G.C.M.G., G.C.V.O., T.D.

The Kidderminster Club and Institute, founded in 1856, is situated in Church street.

The Public Library, Museum and Art Gallery is in Market street. The Libraries Acts were adopted in this town in the year 1854, but no lending library was established until 1881, when a room in the Municipal Offices was used for the purpose. In 1892-1894 a permanent building was erected at a cost of £4,000 (the site being given to the town). A complete reorganization scheme was carried out during 1935, and the library now contains a lending department for adults and children, a reference department, a reading room, storerooms and offices. The Museum and Art Gallery, in an adjoining building, was taken over by the Corporation in 1929. The Museum contains interesting collections relating to the history, antiquities and industries of the borough in addition to the "G. A. Weston Collection" of ivories, Chinese snuff bottles, crystal and jade; and specimens from the "Tomkinson Japanese Collection." The Art Gallery contains a collection of etchings by Frank Brangwyn R.A. A.E. Turner A.L.A. borough librarian and curator.

The market days are Thursday, for corn, fruit, poultry, meat and fish; and Saturday, for meat and vegetables. A cattle fair is held every alternate Tuesday in the market, which was opened in 1871, in the New road. The whole of the old fairs have been abolished with the exception of a pleasure fair held the third Thursday in the month of June.

There are carpet factories, worsted spinning and dyeing mills, maltings and breweries.

The Kidderminster and District General Hospital, built in 1870, at the upper end of Mill street, but first established in 1821, is a structure of red brick in the Gothic style, and contains male and female wards, with 80 beds. In 1886 the fever wing was transformed into a children's hospital, the cost being defrayed by Sir Thomas Lea bart. M.P., J.P.; this has two wards, containing seven and six beds respectively; there are also nurses' rooms, bath rooms, laboratory &c. An isolation ward was erected in 1888, from plans by Mr. J. T. Meredith, architect. The Victoria Memorial operating theatre and the "William Adam" ward, containing six beds, were added in 1903; the latter was the gift of Mrs. Adam, his widow; an X-ray room was added in 1910, and there is also a dispensary for out-door relief. In 1913 the old High School was converted into a nurses' home as a memorial to King Edward VII, a new wing being added to this building in 1931. The hospital was further extended in 1926 at a cost of about £24,000; the foundation stone was laid by Mrs. Stanley Baldwin, and the opening ceremony was performed by H.R.H. the Duke of York, on 21st July, 1927.

The Borough Infectious Diseases Hospital, built in 1884, has cost with subsequent additions £5,000, and will hold 60 patients.

A drinking fountain, the gift of John Brinton esq. formerly M.P. for the borough, from designs by Mr. J. T. Meredith, architect, was erected in 1876 on the open space at Worcester Cross, somewhat near the railway station; it contains several basins and dog troughs, arranged round a central shaft, which is carried up as a clock tower and finished with a dwarf spire, the whole rising to a height of 40 feet.

In 1883 a drinking fountain and cattle trough of Alveley stone was erected at Blakebrook, from the designs of Mr. J. M. Gething, architect, the site and cost being defrayed by D. W. Goodwin esq.

Opposite the Town Hall is a marble statue by Sir Thomas Brock K.C.B., R.A. a native of Worcester, erected in 1881, at a cost of about £1,700, collected in about four years, in small sums, chiefly penny postage stamps, from all parts of the world, to perpetuate the memory of Sir Rowland Hill K.C.B., D.C.L., F.R.S. who was born here Dec. 3, 1795, and suggested and ultimately carried out the penny postage system which came into operation Jan. 10, 1840, and for which he received a national testimonial.

In Church street is a striking memorial to the men connected with the borough who fell in the Great War, 1914-18.

Brinton Park, now consisting of 44 acres of tastefully laid out ground, was presented to the town August 1 1887, by John Brinton esq. D.L., J.P. of Moor Hall, Stourport, and formerly M.P. for the borough, and an addition of 20 acres was made by the Corporation in 1906. It is close to Sutton Common and Stourport road, and commands extensive views of the surrounding country.

St. George's Park, covering 4 acres, was presented to the town in 1927 by three former mayors of Kidderminster, Cecil C. Brinton esq. M.A., J.P., R. S. Brinton esq. J.P. and G. R. Woodward esq. J.P.

In 1640, the celebrated Richard Baxter, born 12 Nov. 1615, at Rowton, in Shropshire, became by invitation the minister of this town, but on the breaking out of the Civil War he undertook the duties of chaplain in the Parliamentary army, and was present at several sieges; he afterwards returned here and had the courage to oppose the usurpation of Cromwell, and in the very presence of the Protector to defend the monarchy. He remained at Kidderminster until the period of the Restoration, when he was made one of the king's chaplains and assisted at the Savoy conference; he subsequently removed to London, where, on account of some passage in his paraphrase of the New Testament, he was imprisoned, but released on the mediation of Lord Powis. He died 8 Dec 1691, and buried in Christ Church, Newgate street, London: the house in High street in which it is said he resided is now the property of the representatives of the late W. Hancocks esq. and his pulpit may be seen by visitors at the Unitarian chapel, Church street: in 1875 a white marble statue was erected to his memory in the Bull Ring, at a cost of about £1,200; the figure, modelled by Sir Thomas Brock K.C.B., R.A. is about 8 feet high, and stands upon a substantial pedestal of Aberdeen granite.

The land in Kidderminster is held by a number of owners.

Under the provisions of the Local Government Act, 1894, Kidderminster Borough civil parish was, in 1894, extended to include that part of Kidderminster Foreign civil parish in the municipal borough.

By the County of Worcester Review Order, 1933, the borough and parish was further extended to include parts of Kidderminster Foreign, Stone, Wolverley and Wribbenhall.

The area of Kidderminster Borough civil parish, which comprises the municipal borough, is 4,694 acres. The population, in 1931 was 29,521.

The population of the municipal wards in 1931 was:- St. Mary, 3,672; Baxter, 4,634; St. George, 4,528; Rowland Hill, 4,928; Park, 6,738; St. John, 5,021.

The population of the ecclesiastical parishes in 1931 was:- St. Mary's, 9,613; St. John the Baptist, 10,885; St. George's, 8,747.

KIDDERMINSTER FOREIGN is a civil parish not included in the municipal borough. The trustees of the late Major John Henry Crane J.P. are landowners in the parish of Kidderminster Foreign and lords of the manor of Habberley. The area is 3,529 acres of land; the population in 1931 was 422.

By the County of Worcester Review Order, 1933 parts of this parish were transferred to Kidderminster, Stourport, Chaddesley Corbett, Churchill, Stone, Wolverley and Wribbenhall, while parts of Dowles and Wribbenhall were added.

Franche and Trimpey are hamlets in this parish.

Sir John Attwood, of Trimpey and Wolverley (died 1391), founded and endowed the original chapel in this place about the year 1372 as a thankoffering for his been removed and the actual site is uncertain, but it was in all probability close to that of the chapel of the Holy Trinity previously mentioned.

Park Attwood, which for many generations was the property of the Attwood family, and subsequently belonged to the Chillingworths and others, is the property and residence of T. H. Charles esq. J.P. who has much enlarged and practically rebuilt the house, which stands near the site of the old mansion.
